

Dianne Doyle

Dianne Doyle was appointed in September 2006 as President and Chief Executive Officer of Providence Health Care, one of Canada's largest faith-based health care organizations operating 16 facilities in Greater Vancouver, BC. Providence is an academic health sciences centre affiliated with the University of British Columbia. Providence is renowned for its research in more than 30 clinical specialties, integrating it with care and teaching to deliver programs and services that span a wide continuum of acute, clinical and residential care, while focusing on six "populations of emphasis." These patient populations include those with cardiopulmonary risks and illness, HIV/AIDS, mental health, renal risks and illness, specialized needs in aging and urban health.

Dianne brings to the role more than 25 years of senior executive experience in health care. She is respected as a values-driven leader committed to fostering and strengthening her organization's culture as the key factor for improved innovation, staff engagement, patient/resident outcomes and organizational excellence.

Dianne is recognized as a champion of Catholic health care provincially and nationally. She is the immediate past Chair of the Catholic Health Association of Canada, Vice Chair of the Catholic Health Association of BC and Post Chair of the Denominational Health Association of BC. Dianne was also the inaugural Chair of the BC Health Care Leaders Association, subsequently serving as a board member for several years.

Dianne is currently a fellow of the Canadian College of Health Leaders (CCHL); and the Association of Canadian Academic Healthcare Organizations (ACAHO) Treasurer; Chair of Board of Canadian Advanced Medical Services International (CAMSI); and past member of the Canadian Health Services Research Foundation (CHSRF) EXTRA Advisory Council and past member of the Royal Roads University Centre for Health Leadership and Research Advisory Board.

Dianne has a BSN from the University of Ottawa and an MSN from the University of British Columbia. Her health leadership credentials include a CHA in Health Services Management, a CHE Certification from CCHSE, and Fellowship in CCHL.

In 2007 and 2008, the Toronto-based Women's Executive Network named Dianne as one of Canada's Top 100 Most Powerful Women in the Public Sector.

Dianne is active in her community, supporting many non-profit groups with her time and expertise, including the board of the Mission to Seafarers. In 2005 she climbed Mt. Kilimanjaro in support of the Alzheimer Society of BC.
